Notice to End your Tenancy For Causing Serious Problems in the Rental Unit or Residential Complex

Instructions

- Section A: When to use this notice ..... p. 1
- Section B: How to complete this notice ..... p. 2
- Section C: How to give this notice to your tenant ..... p. 3
- Section D: What happens after you give this notice ..... p. 3
- Section E: Who to contact if you have any questions ..... p. 4

You can give this notice to the tenant for the following reasons:

- Reason 1: The tenant, their guest or another occupant of the rental unit has seriously impaired the safety of another person, and this event occurred in the residential complex.
- Reason 2: The tenant, their guest or another occupant of the rental unit has wilfully damaged the rental unit or the residential complex.
  - If you give the tenant this notice and you file a Form L2 Application to End a Tenancy and Evict a Tenant based on Reason 2, you will be expected to prove at the hearing that the tenant, their guest or another occupant of the rental unit caused the damage wilfully (in other words, that the person deliberately caused the damage). If you cannot prove the damage was wilful your application will be dismissed.
  - If you are not sure whether the person who caused the damage did so wilfully, or you are not sure whether you can prove that they caused the damage wilfully, you may consider giving the tenant a Form N5 Notice to End a Early instead. The Form N5 applies to damage caused wilfully or negligently.
- Reason 3: The tenant, their guest or another occupant of the rental unit has used the rental unit or the residential complex in a manner inconsistent with its use as residential premises and this has caused or can be expected to cause serious damage,
- Reason 4: You live in the same building as the tenant and the tenant, their guest or another occupant of the rental unit has substantially interfered with:
  - your reasonable enjoyment of the rental unit, or
  - another of your lawful rights, privileges or interests.

This reason only applies if the building has three or fewer residential units. If you do not live in the same building as the tenant, or if the building has more than three residential units, you should use Form N5 Notice to End a Tenancy Early instead.

Giving this notice is the first step in evicting a tenant for the above reasons. See Section D below for information about what happens after you give this notice to your tenant.

Read these instructions before completing the notice. You are responsible for ensuring that your notice is correct and complete. Follow the instruction carefully when you complete the notice. If you do not complete the form properly, your notice may not be valid and you may have to start over.

Under To, fill in the name of the tenant to whom you want to give the notice. If there is more than one tenant living in the rental unit, fill in the names of all of the tenants. Where there is a subtenant or assignee, you should name these people in the notice. However, you do not need to name other occupants, such as children or guests of the tenant.

Under From, fill in your name. If there is more than one landlord, fill in the names of all of the landlords.

Under Address of the Rental Unit, fill in the complete address of the rental unit, including the unit number (or apartment or suite number) and the postal code.

The Termination Date

The earliest date you can fill in for this field is 10 days after you give the tenant this notice.

When you are counting the days, do not include the date you are giving the notice to the tenant. If you are faxing the notice, the notice is deemed to be given on the date imprinted on the fax. If you are sending the notice by courier, add one business day for delivery. If you are sending the notice by mail, add five days for delivery.

Example:

If a landlord decides to hand the notice to the tenant in person on June 14th, the landlord can fill in June 24th as the termination date (10 days after June 14th). But, if the landlord intends to put the notice in the mail on June 14th, the landlord has to add five calendar days, bringing the termination date to June 29th (10 days + 5 days for mailing).
